

Technical Training

When it comes to lab technical training, we wrote the book – figuratively anyway.

Our customers benefit from our exhaustive testing processes; all of which are documented for replication and future training. In addition to creating thorough analysis, review and documentation of your existing processes we can:

- Review your lab operations on-site
- Train in hands-on proximate testing
- Train in simple collection and basic laboratory techniques including dilutions, plating, interpretation and troubleshooting

Our lab professionals will make on-site visits to your lab, audit your practices and procedures and help you with everything from the most basic lab techniques to technical nightmares.

How do we do it? Chances are our professionals have encountered your problems and, thanks to our broad industry experience, we can apply the best practices from one field to another.

Unlike some organizations, we believe that sharing knowledge is power and will help you create a better product and process. Find out how Cherney Microbiological Services can provide "A Culture of Outstanding Service" by contacting 920-406-8300 or Email TestWithUs@CherneyMicro.com.
